

Personalised Learning Faculty

The Personalised Learning Faculty is responsible for supporting the learning of all students with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities.

The faculty is led by the SENCO. There are also additional teaching staff as well as a team of Support Tutors.

The faculty has a suite of 4 rooms that are centrally located in 2 of the school's 5 teaching blocks. The location of the faculty rooms is an indication of the central role that Personalised Learning plays in the life of the school; the facilities are available to, and enjoyed by, all students, not just those with SEND. All rooms have ICT facilities for large groups of students, including white boards. There is also a wide range of teaching resources and support materials, including reading schemes and numeracy programmes.

Although Support Tutors teach within the support bases, the majority of their day is spent supporting students in lessons; they support across the age ranges and curriculum areas.

The faculty team is hard working and enjoys excellent relationships both within the faculty and across the school. New members of staff are warmly welcomed into this happy and thriving staff team.
