Before ticking the appropriate box below please read the definition of disability. The definition of disability, as outlined in the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 is as follows: "a physical or mental impairment which has a substantial and long term adverse effect on a person's ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities".

To be protected under the Act.

- An individual must have an impairment which can be physical or mental.
- It has to be substantial, that is something more than minor or trivial.
- It needs to be long term i.e. The impairment has lasted or is likely to last in total for at least twelve months or more, or is likely to last for the rest of the life of the person affected (long term includes conditions which fluctuate or may recur such as cancer, HIV/AIDS and multiple sclerosis) and
- It must affect their day-to-day activities on a regular basis (day-to-day activities includes things such as reading, lifting and carrying objects, personal care, shopping, meeting and communicating with people. The effect of your impairment on everyday activities is considered as it would be without medication or aids. The only exception is eyesight which should be judged when an individual is wearing their usual lenses or spectacles).

The effect an impairment may have on day-to-day activities is defined in the Act as falling within the following categories:

- Mobility
- Manual dexterity
- Physical co-ordination
- Continence
- Ability to lift, carry or otherwise move everyday objects
- Speech, hearing or eyesight
- Memory or ability to concentrate, learn or understand or
- Perception of the risk of physical danger.

☐ I do consider myself to have a disability as defined by the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 (as detailed above).
☐ I do not consider myself to have a disability as defined by the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 (as detailed above).
☐ I prefer not to say.
